Mr. Voyles noted the State open meeting law did not apply because the Library had not received any written notification requests from the media.

Mr. Voyles explained that the meeting was called to draft a response to the City/County Compact Proposal as it relates to the Louisville Free Public Library.

After considerable discussion, the following resolution was drafted:
The Louisville Free Public Library Board of Trustees regrets that the Administrations of the City and County were not able to consult the Library Board and or Administration about the Compact Proposal as it relates to the Louisville Free Public Library.

The proposed legislation fails to recognize the unique nature of libraries as a source of public information insulated from censorship and politics.

The Board supports your efforts to achieve greater efficiency in City and County Government through the Compact Proposal. However, the Board stresses that the continuation of an independent, citizen, governing board is essential to the integrity of the library operation. A departure from this would be a serious step backward.

Father Eifler moved approval of the resolution; Ms. Kuhnle seconded and it carried unanimously.

Barbara Christine
Shelby Park Library
February 1986

Barbara Christine is a dedicated, caring, hard-working librarian. She has worked in a variety of positions at the Louisville Free Public Library for more than twenty eight years. Since 1973, she has been head librarian at the Shelby Park Branch.
During her years at Shelby Park, Ms. Christine has demonstrated a commitment to the Shelby Park community and to the role of the branch in that community that has often gone beyond the bounds of duty and expectation. For example, she regularly volunteers her own time to deliver library materials to homebound residents of the area who are not able to visit the library. She is also keenly aware of the importance that a branch library can have in the lives of disadvantaged children and has worked hard to make the branch a place of exploration and enrichment for children in the neighborhood.

During the recent renovation of the Shelby Park branch she showed again her commitment and caring keeping the branch running under very adverse conditions, coping admirably with dust, wet paint, and workmen under foot. She worked harder and longer than any of the people doing the renovation work and never lost her patience. When the work was completed it was a pleasure to see the work that had been done but even more a pleasure to note Ms. Christine's excitement and pride.

Ms. Christine's current project is to get Shelby Park's collection converted for computer circulation as quickly as possible. She is showing a real flair for working with the computer. She is anxious for Shelby Park branch to enjoy the advantages of the automated system. As she pushes to get Shelby Park on-line once again the key fact about Ms. Christine as a librarian is demonstrated - she cares.

I take great pleasure in announcing that Mr. Timothy Hellner, Librarian II supervisor of the Main Library's Fine Arts Division, has been selected as the Louisville Free Public Library's Employee of the Month.

Mr. Hellner has been associated with libraries for the last twenty years: First with Bellarmine's and then with the University of Louisville's library prior to arriving at the Louisville Free Public Library in 1971. Since then, Mr. Hellner has distinguished himself and brought praise to the library not only for the professionalism and resourcefulness with which he discharges his duties, but also for his application of native intelligence, highly developed communicative and interpersonal skills, and selfless, energetic dedication to public service.

Mr. Hellner's dedication to public service may be exemplified by his involvement with a homebound patron who died several years ago. Mr. Hellner not only took reference calls and selected reading material for him, but also personally delivered books to his lonely, demanding patron.

More recently, Mr. Hellner has been the laboring oar in the library's establishment of an Electronic Bulletin Board system at the Main Library; and has assisted the branches with placement and utilization of microcomputers. Almost singlehandedly Mr. Hellner overcame tremendous hardware and software problems to activate the Library's Freeboard, as the Electronic Bulletin Board is called, and to make it an overwhelming success. (By the way, a newspaper article concerning Mr. Hellner and the Freeboard appeared in last Saturday's Scene; and Mr. Hellner is also writing an article for a national newsletter about micros in our library system).

For his many accomplishments, I commend Mr. Hellner, Fine Arts Librarian who has truly developed the fine art of public service.

Personnel Committee: Ms. Miller read the following commendation to Ms. Linda Zabel, Okolona Branch Head:

Linda Zabel is a relative newcomer to the Louisville Free Public Library system, beginning as a children's librarian at the Jeffersontown branch in May 1984. While there, she was instrumental in implementing the renovation of the children's area. Her knowledge of microcomputers proved to be valuable in teaching children and staff how to use the micros when they were first introduced in the branches.

In August of 1985, Ms. Zabel became the first person to participate in an experiment in which the children's librarian is also the branch head. She became head of the Okolona branch, but continued storytelling and other children related duties. Ms. Zabel's ability to set priorities and the enthusiasm with which she tackles any assigned task will give us a good opportunity to assess this experiment.

She has exhibited outstanding supervisory skills. The transition from a hand-charge agency to a completely automated agency went smoothly under her guidance. She manages various committee assignments and still finds the time to participate in community activities, even as branch circulation continues to rise at record-breaking speed. We are fortunate to have such a capable and pleasant employee on the staff.

The branches which comprise the West Region are as unique as the region they represent. Newly renovated Shelby Park has become the focal point of activity in its historical neighborhood. Parkland has developed into a regular gathering place for various community groups. Both of these branches have successful literacy programs which have grown dramatically over the last year and exemplify the library's role as an educational institution. Shawnee has opened its doors to a variety of classes and programs which give the library visibility and attract new patrons. Portland serves a city within a city and is noted for its service to children. Western, of course, is renowned for its Black Heritage Collection which is used by scholars from all over the nation.

Each branch in the West Region has a distinct reputation, yet the cooperative spirit of the group has accomplished many goals in the recent past. The popular Saturday Night series of programs was the beginning of this effort to raise the community's awareness of branch facilities and services. Community support was expressed strongly during the petition drive and public hearings for the taxing district proposal. The branches share staff and materials as well as programming ideas. Western's Homecoming this Saturday will be the most recent of the groups coordinated efforts.

Mary Somervilie
July 7, 1986

Mary Somervilie began work at the Louisville Free Public Library on September 5, 1978, as Coordinator of Children's Services. Over the past 8 years she has continued to build on the strong foundation of children's services which had been established by her predecessor. Today, children's services at the main library and in the branches is one of the strongest components of the Library. This can be documented by the variety and number of children's programs which take place each year and in the ever increasing success of the summer reading programs, which have won both local and national commendations.

Ms. Somervilie's endeavors have not been limited to Children's Services. She has been called upon to serve and has very willingly served on numerous Library committees addressing librarywide subjects. In 1984 she took on the task of overseeing the implementation of automation for the Library, in addition to her other duties.

Having successfully introduced automation to the Library, Ms. Somervilie turned over those reins and began to work on writing grants for the Library. Due to her efforts, the Library has received 12 grants, worth over $93,000.

Ms. Somervilie has also been active on numerous local committees such as the Jefferson County Cable Commission and the Jefferson County United Way.

Ms. Somervilie's expertise has also been seen in 8 major articles in national professional magazines. She has also served as guest speaker and panelist on programs of various state and national organizations. Ms. Somervilie's long term involvement in the American Library Association was recognized this year with her election as Vice President/President-Elect of the Association for Library Service to Children.

Ms. Somervilie is a dedicated person, with an inquiring mind, who is able to listen to those around her and to nurture their abilities and creativity.

Her past and present work gives more than ample reasons for her being named employee of the month.

tax, maintaining the same governing board structure as now exists and including appropriate budgetary approval through fiscal court and the Board of Aldermen as provided in House Bill 269, codified as KRS 65.192.

The Board authorizes the Director and staff to respond to all citizen inquiries.

Personnel Committee: Ms. Perry reported on the quarterly meeting of the committee then read the following commendation to Shirley Valko and Kathy Brady:

Kathy Brady and Shirley Valko may be the best known names, if not faces, in the library system. Anyone with a problem or a question about a computer terminal at LFPL, or with our Commodore and Apple computers has probably spoken with one of them. They're the ace trouble-shooters/problem-solvers for any and all computer-related difficulties.

Kathy was a computer operator in the Navy, and Shirley has extensive experience in the computer industry, so you would think that their backgrounds would be helpful to their library computer room positions. However, it is doubtful that they ever had to deal with problems such as users getting locked in the Public Access Catalog program, valentines being stuffed into disk drives, or the procedures for hooking up a bar code reader to a printer.

They take turns working the day or night shift, so depending on whose shift it is, the staff could reach either one of them with a question. On any given day, the variety of problems and phone calls they get is almost overwhelming. Yet, they are both always cheerful and pleasant. Many staff members have mentioned how neither one of them ever seems to lose their good humor, no matter how frustrating the problem on which they're working seems to be.

Of course, if the computer happens to go down, potentially over 40 departments and branches may call the computer room simultaneously. It is not unusual to see them with a phone at each ear and the third phone in the computer room ringing! Often, it takes them several minutes to even get to the computer to see what the problem is, due to the number of calls. Again, they are never flustered, and have managed to resist the temptation to say "Give the computer two aspirin and call me in the morning!"

Because of the unpredictable nature of computers and the schedule required for backups and software installation, they often have to stay at work until long after midnight, or work all day Sunday. Neither one complains about this difficult work schedule, and will stay until the job is done, regardless of how long it takes. This dedication, as well as their attitude and ability to solve and/or fix almost every problem thrown at them, definitely entitles each of them to be given the Employee of the Month award.

Personnel Committee: Ms. Miller read the following commendation to Ms. Moseley, Outer Highland Branch:
Outer Highlands Branch Library is the smallest branch in the Louisville Free Public Library system. How do you provide good branch library service in a space smaller than the library's board room? It's difficult.

You start by attempting to find a person to run the branch who has the personality and skills to take advantage of the opportunities offered by being forced to operate in severely limited quarters while constantly looking for ways to overcome the more numerous liabilities.

You need a person to run the branch who is cheerful and friendly, who knows how to make patrons feel welcome. A stand-offish person could not survive at Outer Highlands. There is no space in which to stand off.

You hope for a person to run the branch who will have the ability and inclination to learn the tastes and reading interests of branch patrons so that the limited materials collection can be utilized to the best advantage. Being able to say "Mrs. Smith I know you're interested in quilts, here's a book I think you'll enjoy", is good library service.
You need a person to run a branch like Outer Highlands with patience, organizational skills, and a strong sense of humor.

Outer Highlands is so snug that adding an unabridged dictionary to the collection makes necessary a major space re-allocation operation.

You need a person with the energy, enthusiasm and commitment to work on ten things at once and do them all well. With the exception of pages, the staff of Outer Highlands is a staff of one - the branch head.

The library is extraordinarily fortunate to have in Mary Moseley a person who fits, with precision, the description of the person needed to run the Outer Highlands branch. The library has been the beneficiary of Ms. Moseley's talent and energy since 1977. She moved from the Talking Book Library in 1981 to head the Outer Highlands Branch. In that position she has proved to be a major asset to us and the Outer Highlands community.

Planning and Interior Operations Committee: Ms. Kuhnle then read a certification that bills in the amount of $233,240.56 in the operating account and $211,088.26 in the restricted account were audited and found correct. She moved approval, Fr. Eifler seconded and the motion passed unanimously.

Personnel Committee: Barbara Miller read the following commendation to Arlene Heath:

Arlene Heath's wide range of experience, from volunteer to head of circulation, has given her the ability to relate to almost everyone, from patrons to peers. Her smooth, professional handling of patron complaints and problems makes her invaluable in the circulation department. She has the knack of knowing when to draw the line and when to make exceptions. She can relate to her staff on a personal level, without losing her authority.

Due to her exceptional grasp of the online circulation system, she was asked to be in charge of training the staff at the branches that had not yet started online circulation. With a set of automated circulation exercises created by her staff, she went to each agency to train the branch head and some of the other branch staff. Since she had worked as a clerk typist at the Bon Air branch, she knew how staff at branches worked, and was able to relate the online procedures to the manual procedures in such a way that the staff could more easily understand and adapt to automation. In recognition of the excellent job she did with this training, branch staff awarded her a giant chocolate chip cookie as a "certificate" of their appreciation.

In addition to her duties with automation, Arlene's responsibilities as head of circulation mean that she has been involved in such activities as the move of the department from the basement to the main lobby, implementation of the new phone system, and consolidation of three circulation desks into one central desk, with another desk in the children's department. Her good humor and positive attitude throughout these changes help keep staff morale high.

She always has a smile, and a friendly, outgoing manner. If the Diplomatic Corps. ever recruited at LFPL, Arlene Heath would be the top candidate! To paraphrase the Sara Lee jingle:

"Everybody doesn't like someone,

Nobody doesn't like Arlene Heath!!"
Finance Committee: The written report of the Finance Committee containing statistical analysis, cost analysis, prioritization of goals and then supporting material had previously been sent to members of the Board. Mr. Hanley asked if any Board member required another copy. Ms. Kuhnle then read the following resolution which was unanimously approved by the Budget and Finance Committee on November 10, 1986:

At its meeting on November 10, 1986, the Budget and Finance Committee unanimously passed the following recommendations to be made at the November 18 Board Meeting:

- Four primary branches be designated: Crescent Hill, Jeffersontown, Iroquois, and Shawnee; open 51 hours per week and staffed with five full time employees.
- Close five secondary branches: Fern Creek, Preston, Northeast, Outer Highlands, and Parkland.
- Transfer the Southwest Branch operation to the Valley Station location.
- Reduce the adult main public services staff by three positions and reduce hours a commensurate amount (to 56 hours per week).
- Explore fundraising possibilities in order to upgrade the Main Library's book collections.
- The radio stations are expected to be self-sufficient in two years.

Funds realized from the above recommendations would be used to bring the book budgets and staffing levels up to an adequate level in the remaining agencies.

She moved approval and Mrs. Stapp seconded. Mr. Hanley asked Mrs. Stapp for confirmation that the Planning and Interior Operations Committee had also reviewed the written analyses and approved the resolution. Mrs. Stapp indicated that the Committee unanimously concurred with the recommendations.

Mr. Troutman spoke against closing the branches. He moved returning the motion to the committee for further study. Ms. Guest seconded.
Mrs. Kuhnle argued in favor of approving the resolution. She said the recommendations were the product of matters the board and the committee had been reviewing for several years. She said, the committee had studied the problem thoroughly and urged the board to support its decision. The recommendation had not been made earlier due to the pending proposed taxing district referendum. Mr. Schulman also spoke in opposition to returning the issue to committee.

Ms. Miller moved the question of returning the issue to committee. Mr. Hanley called for a vote. Mr. Troutman and Ms. Guest voted in favor of sending the issue back to committee. The remaining seven members voted against returning.

The board returned to discussion of the first motion and the director outlined the plan drawn up by the Finance Committee (copy attached).

Mr. Hanley called for discussion and Mr. Troutman spoke against closing the five designated branch libraries.

Mrs. Miller supported the committee's decision and Mrs. Kuhnle concurred.

Mr. Hanley explained the operational costs per branch, indicating the areas in which money could be saved and areas where funds were most critically needed.

Fr. Eifler spoke on behalf of the decision to close branches and described the prior budget cuts which led to the current crisis.

Ms. Kuhnle moved the question; Mr. Hanley called for a vote and the motion passed with one dissenting vote from Mr. Troutman.
Broadcasting Committee: Mr. Schulman reported WFPL's fundraising drive had started off well and that WFPK had reached an all-time high in listener donations: $24,090.00, during its fall fundraiser.

Arbitron ratings indicate the average quarter hour audience is up for both stations. WFPL has maintained over 30,000 listeners for two consecutive rating periods.

President's Report: Mr. Hanley asked the Budget and Finance Committee to meet before the next board meeting and explore ways to raise money for the book budget.

Ms. Faye Ellerkamp and Ms. Bety Walsh presented personal contributions for which Mr. Hanley thanked them on behalf of the board.

Mr. Troutman moved the library close on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve. Mr. Hanley said the board no longer had the authority to close the library and suggested contacting the city for approval before the next board meeting. Mr. Troutman amended his motion to seek city approval of the closing. Fr. Eifler seconded and the motion passed unanimously.

Mrs. Stapp moved approval of the staff proposals concerning changes in Main and branch hours of service previously reviewed, amended, and approved by the committee. Ms. Kuhnle seconded the motion. After considerable discussion the motion passed with eleven members voting for it. Mr. Troutman abstained.

_Budget and Finance Committee:_ Ms. Kuhnle explained the background of the Louisville Free Public Library Foundation and moved that funds in the restricted account be transferred to the Foundation. The board attorney described the operation of the Foundation and Mr. Hanley discussed the planned fundraising campaign. After considerable discussion the motion carried with Mr. Troutman abstaining.

RESOLUTION OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF LOUISVILLE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY

WHEREAS, the Louisville Free Public Library Foundation, Inc., was established as a charitable and educational foundation to preserve capital assets of the Louisville Free Public Library and to obtain significantly larger donations from private sources through systematic fund-raising campaigns to supplement the public funds provided for the Library by governmental entities including the City of Louisville and the Jefferson County Fiscal Court, and

WHEREAS, it has historically proved difficult for a tax-supported institution such as the Library to raise significant supplemental funds from private sources directly, and

WHEREAS, under the provisions of the Articles of Incorporation of the Foundation, its funds can be spent only for the purpose of benefiting, promoting, supporting, encouraging, and enhancing the programs and services of the Louisville Free Public Library, and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library has proposed to transfer certain of the Library's capital assets to the Foundation to insure their preservation and maximum possible benefit for the Library and all of its programs, and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees desires to transfer certain assets to the Foundation in aid of the Library and all of the programs aforesaid, and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees wishes to use the Foundation as a base to raise private donations and to establish adequate legal standards and safeguards to guide and control the Foundation in its custody and use of the transferred assets, and to insure proper accountability to the Trustees and sufficient recourse for the Trustees or the Library Commission to remedy any possible errors or misapplication of assets on the part of the Foundation.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved that the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library hereby adopt the following criteria, regulations, and restrictions regarding all transfers of real and personal property, cash, contract rights, choses in action, and any other assets or property rights by it to the Louisville Free Public Library Foundation; it being understood, however, that none of these restrictions shall apply to any funds or property transferred directly to the Foundation and given to it in its name by private donors:

1. Although assets may be transferred by the Trustees to the Foundation through any form of legal conveyance including a simple absolute or its equivalent, in trust, or the like, the Trustees shall permanently retain the power to revoke in its entirety, including the return of principal, interest, and income, any transfer of any asset or assets to the Foundation in the event that such asset is, in the judgment of the Trustees or Library Commission, not being properly utilized for the sole purpose of promoting, expanding, improving or otherwise benefiting the Library; or that the asset is not being properly and diligently invested, insured, or otherwise protected and preserved in compliance with the standard of care of a reasonable and prudent business person dealing with the money or property of another in a fiduciary capacity; or that the employment, use, investment, expenditure, or consumption of the asset by the Foundation contravenes any aspect of the rules and regulations of the Kentucky Department of Libraries and Archives, and the statutes or common law of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and the United States of America, including but not limited to Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.

2. The Foundation’s Board shall render a quarterly report to the Trustees or Library Commission detailing all receipts and expenditures of funds for any purpose or purposes; the status, value, disposition, mode of investment, and other relevant facts concerning each asset or fund transferred to it by the Trustees; and a summary of the Foundation’s activities carried on during the month, with any and all benefits conferred upon the Library fully set forth.

3. The assets being transferred are set out in full in Schedule I attached to this resolution. They are hereby incorporated by reference as if set out in full herein. These assets shall retain their restricted character in accordance with those enumerated restrictions set out in Schedule I and this Resolution does nothing to alter the restricted nature of these funds and the permissible expenditures contemplated by each individual endowment.

4. In the event, action of the Trustees in transferring assets to the Foundation or the Foundation's stewardship or the employment of the assets were unauthorized or improper, the Directors of the Foundation shall agree to return the principal or corpus of such asset or assets to the Library in that event, plus any accrued interest actually earned and the actual appreciation in value of those assets.

I, WILLIAM H. Planning Committee: Plans for Implementing the Foundation Funds. Mr. Ptacek outlined plans for development of Main Library collections and facilities, with special focus on:

1) Book collections of business, pure science, and technology items. Personnel will be shifted to service those areas. A corresponding system of spread-sheets will be established for these areas of priority funding. Likewise, staff will develop strategies for timely acquisition of $400,000+ in book monies; for example, key publishers will be targeted for major orders.

2) Implementation of on-line indexes, with a resulting effect on periodical orders. Initiation of on-line information will reveal which periodicals are most used. A priority list of periodicals can then be developed for use in selection.

5) Space utilization. In order to expand Main's collection, the following strategies will be effected:
   a) Use of available shelving.
   b) Weeding dated materials.
   c) Purchasing more materials.
   d) Decreasing aisle space, with a resulting increase of 25% in available shelving.
   e) Expansion of 2nd Floor ranges.
   f) Renovation of the 1st Floor, removing walls, opening up space, creating a more immediate "library look" for patrons, making collections more accessible to them.
g) Off-site location for less-used materials, such as 19th century periodicals.

Mr. Ptacek also pointed out that lack of parking and security are major problems for the Main Library.

Patent Depository. Mr. Ptacek distributed a letter to the federal government requesting that the Library be made a patent depository. Obtaining such a depository will mean substantive benefits for economic development, the legal community, and interested researchers. Start-up costs are $100,000 - $110,000 to acquire microfilm backfiles of patents. Twenty years' worth are required for becoming a depository. Additionally, trained staff is needed. The Library will be coordinating staffing with the City; Mike Carrell and the State Library have been approached regarding the project. A letter from the State Librarian indicates a substantial commitment to the project: patent information will be made accessible to other Kentucky libraries.

Since there was neither Old nor New Business, Ms. Orr announced adjournment at 5 p.m.

The Library is working with Shively City Hall to achieve some improvements. The Cherokee Triangle Association is providing assistance for interior improvements at Highland; and there are planned renovations at Portland and Shawnee. Mr. Hanley requested that the Library explore the effects of zoning on planned expansion at Okolona, and suggested listing carpeting under maintenance rather than capital improvements; Mr. Ptacek asked that the Finance Committee consider the latter suggestion. Since reorganization of Physical Facilities at the Main Library is in the planning stages, information regarding that project was not included.

Library Broadcasting: Ms. Goldberg reported on activities of the Library Broadcasting Committee. The Committee suggests review of the old Long-Range Plan, which covers the period 1984–1989. volumes per capita, the Library will need to add 460,000 volumes, construct five new branches, and expand existing facilities. The budget, incorporating these changes, totals $8,983,000/year. Ms. Dinnen noted that 2 volumes per capita is modest when compared with 5 volumes per capita in Ohio.

Planning Committee: Ms. Miller reported that cost estimates for renovating Shawnee and Portland exceed funds appropriated by the City. Mr. Ptacek elaborated on reasons for increased costs, which include greater foundation work, higher wage rates, and expense of materials which were to be donated in the original proposal. The Committee moved that the Library proceed to renovate Portland from current funds, seeking monies from next year's budget for renovation of Shawnee. The motion passed.

EQUIPMENT UPGRADE

GOAL: To expand the operational power of the current automation system.

OBJECTIVES:
1. Purchase a VAX 6210 CPU to replace the two 11/750 units which we currently have, which would be liquidated for their trade-in values. This would give LFPL an overall memory increase of 2 1/2 times and would yield 3 times the processing power of the existing 11/750's combined.
2. Add two disk-drives which will yield an additional 622 megabytes of permanent storage, each.
3. Purchase two TU81+ tape drives for software installation and backup to replace the current TU80 tape drives. The latter are compatible with neither the 8200 CPU which we presently own, nor with the 6210 CPU considered in this proposal.
4. Obtain additional, much-needed peripheral equipment.
5. Provide all-round better service for the staff and the public.

RE: 1988/89 MATERIALS BUDGETS

The adult and children's allotment for branches in this year's budget is $455,465, up $80,465 from last year. $50,000 of this money is for this year only. In dividing the allocation, we maintained previously used percentages of 36% for children's and 64% for adult overall.

The branches will benefit from the following system wide allocations:

Each branch receives an increase from last year. Okolona and Middletown received the bulk of the extra $50,000 because they will both be moving to larger facilities this fall. Bon Air and Jeffersontown received the next largest increases because they have some room to grow and have high circulation. Crescent Hill, Eline, and Iroquois have a little room to grow, but may expand in the near future, so they were next in line for increases. The remaining branches received basically an inflationary increase, due to limited growth potential at this time. The individual branch allocations are:

confidentiality of library records

In light of recent FBI inquiries into library use (see Newsletter, November 1987, p. 215), the ALA Office for Intellectual Freedom reiterates the American Library Association's Policy on the Confidentiality of Library Records. This policy and suggested procedures for its implementation are reprinted below. In addition, as noted in the policy, the ALA Code of Ethics also protects the user's right to privacy.

Librarians confronted with any request for library circulation records should carefully follow the "Suggested Procedures," especially steps 2 and 3. These advise consultation with the library's legal officer to ensure that any process, order or subpoena is in good form and that there is a showing of good cause for its issuance. Subpoenas are fairly easily obtained and the requirement that good cause be shown is for the library's protection as well as that of the patron.

The Intellectual Freedom Committee of the Oklahoma Library Association has published a notice for posting in libraries, spelling out for patrons their rights under Oklahoma law to privacy in library use. The Office for Intellectual Freedom strongly urges libraries in states that have confidentiality of library records statutes to create and post a similar notice. Those in states without such statutes should formally adopt the ALA Code of Ethics and a policy specifically recognizing personally identifiable records as confidential, and devise a similar statement for public posting. The following states have enacted legislation protecting the confidentiality of library records: Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

Policy on Confidentiality of Library Records*

The Council of the American Library Association strongly recommends that the responsible officers of each library, cooperative system, and consortium in the United States:

1. Formally adopt a policy with specifically recognizing its circulation records and other records identifying the names of library users to be confidential in nature.
2. Advise all librarians and library employees that such records shall not be made available to any agency of state, federal, or local government except pursuant to such process, order, or subpoena as may be authorized under the authority of, and pursuant to federal, state, or local law relating to civil, criminal, or administrative discovery procedures or legislative investigative power.
3. Resist the issuance or enforcement of any such process, order, or subpoena until such time as a proper showing of good cause has been made in a court of competent jurisdiction.
4. Any threats or unauthorized demands (i.e., those not supported by a process, order, or subpoena) concerning circulation or registration records shall be reported to the appropriate legal officer of the institution.

Suggested Procedures for Implementing "Policy on Confidentiality of Library Records"

1. The library staff member receiving the request to examine or obtain information relating to circulation or registration records will immediately refer the person making the request to the responsible officer of the institution who shall explain the confidentiality policy.
2. The director, upon receipt of such process, order, or subpoena, shall consult with the appropriate legal officer assigned to the institution to determine if such process, order, or subpoena is in good form and if there is a showing of good cause for its issuance.
3. If the process, order, or subpoena is not in proper form or if good cause has not been shown, insistence shall be made that such defects be cured before any records are released. The legal process requiring the production of circulation records shall ordinarily be in the form of subpoena "duces tecum" [bring your records] requiring the responsible officer to attend court or the taking of his/her deposition and may require him/her to bring along certain designated circulation records.
4. Any problems relating to the privacy of circulation and registration records which are not provided for above shall be referred to the responsible officer.

Dear Bill:

Enclosed with this correspondence you will find a policy statement on the confidentiality of library records. While it is permissible to maintain this policy statement at the Main Branch or in the Administrative Offices of the Library, I would suggest that we circulate it to all branch directors.

I believe such circulation would be a positive statement to any library user that the records of library usage will be protected and considered confidential by the Library.

If you have any questions regarding this correspondence, the enclosure or the information it represents please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Evan

Enclosure
POLICY OF THE LOUISVILLE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY
REGARDING THE CONFIDENTIALITY OF LIBRARY RECORDS

Pursuant to the KRS 61.876 the Louisville Free Public Library hereby adopts rules and regulations regarding the access to public records in its possession regarding the circulation records and other records identifying the names of library users.

The Louisville Free Public Library has adopted a policy that prohibits the inspection of the circulation records and any other records identifying the names of library users until such a time as a proper showing of good cause has been made in a court of competent jurisdiction mandating the inspection of the aforementioned records. The Louisville Free Public Library shall resist the issuance or enforcement of any such process, order, or subpoena until such a time as a court of competent jurisdiction mandates the inspection of such records.

This policy was passed pursuant to KRS 61.878 which provides for the exclusion of certain records under the Kentucky Open Records Act which are "public records containing information of a personal nature where the public disclosure thereof would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy."

This policy shall be enforced until such a time as the Louisville Free Public Library adopts a new policy or amendment hereto.

Public Library Roles

Public library roles are profiles of library service emphases. Taken as a group, they provide a catalog of library service images. Each role is a shorthand way of describing a combination of factors important in planning:

- What the library is trying to do
- Who the library is trying to serve
- What resources the library needs to achieve these ends.

Figure 11 introduces eight library roles. These roles (described in more detail later in this chapter) provide a menu for selecting the roles most appropriate for your library's circumstances. No library has a large enough budget, staff, or collection to meet all the service needs of its community. No library can fulfill all roles with excellence, so each library must focus its resources on a limited number of roles.

The notion of limitation may be uncomfortable. Yet choices about service priorities not made deliberately are made by default. Librarians make choices on a daily basis. Taken individually, these choices often seem small. Which book to buy? Which item to catalog first? Whether to add a microcomputer for public use or to recarpet the children's area? The effect of such decision making is, however, cumulative. These choices define the library's role. They determine where the budget is spent and how staff spend their time.

By selecting which roles to emphasize, the planning committee provides criteria for making these decisions. The planning committee and library staff need to balance their vision for desired roles with a clear recognition of which roles the library can realistically fulfills. These roles become the focus for library resources and energies during the years ahead. Stating these choices explicitly allows the library to:

- Relate services to identified community needs and library conditions
- Concentrate on the most needed service areas
- Communicate service priorities to staff, local government, and the public
- Allocate resources more effectively.

The roles presented in this chapter are generalizations, not absolutes. They encompass most public library contributions to a community, but do not describe all possible library services. Divisions between roles are a matter of judgment. Some roles overlap to a certain extent, and some library activities apply to more than one role. If your library is selecting roles at an extensive level of effort, you may identify or define roles unique to your library's circumstances. However, the standard set of roles presented in Figure 11 is useful for comparative purposes.

Public Library Mission

The mission statement is a concise expression of the library's purpose. It specifies the fundamental reasons for the library's existence. In this sense, it builds on, but is not limited to, the roles chosen by the library. The mission establishes the scope of the library's activities for the current planning cycle and acts as a foundation for other planning phases. In one sense, the mission is like a job description: it gives direction to the library's daily activities.

Brief, simple, and direct, the mission is especially well-suited to communicating with the public. It concentrates the essence of the library's role choices in non-technical language and communicates the library's "business" to

(Group)

In the columns below, please allocate 100 points. You need not divide points equally, and some roles may receive no points. Note that 20 of the 100 points have already been assigned to cover basic library activities and roles not selected for emphasis. In the first column, distribute the 80 remaining points based on how you see current library activities being directed. In the second column, distribute the 80 points the way you feel library activities should be directed.

Mrs. Barry Bingham, Sr.
Glenview, Kentucky 40025

Dear Mrs. Bingham:

After seeing you at home Tuesday, I returned to the Library for our monthly Commission meeting. Each and every Commission member asked me to express their respects to you and your family on behalf of the Library. The institution is highly honored indeed by having been named as the recipient of remembrances for Mr. Bingham.

We also wanted to recognize at this time the significant and steadfast contributions that you and he have made to so many important aspects of the community generally, but particularly to the husbandry and advocacy of knowledge, free speech and advancement through learning. In short, those ideals which serve as both the foundation stones and the objects of public libraries. As the newspaper so perfectly expressed it, "We aren't likely soon to see his equal."

This year must have been immeasurably difficult and yet you found so much time and energy to help us. Even in adversity, your fine example sets a standard for all of us.

I would like to come visit with you at a suitable time to discuss what the Library would like to do as a more fitting and permanent memorialization of our community's respect and gratitude for your leadership.

Warmest regards,

Keith G. Hanley
Chairman
Louisville Free Public Library Commission

After discussion the recommendation was approved by the full Commission. Ms. Carle suggested that, because of the nature of the Committee, the chairs of the other standing committees be appointed to the Continuing Education Committee. Mr. Hanley concurred and, pursuant to the Bylaws, appointed Ms. Goldberg, Ms. Miller, and Ms. Orr. Mr. Hanley requested that Ms. Goldberg chair the Committee.

Mr. Ptacek distributed information concerning preparation of the Long Range Plan. See attached Annex B. The staff is currently gathering material which will be presented to the Commission. Mr. Hanley distributed copies of his letter to Mrs. Barry Bingham, Sr. which he had written on behalf of the Commission. See attached Annex C.

Mr. Hanley reported that the Finance Committee had met and recommended that the Library's main branch building be named the Mary and Barry Bingham Central Library, to recognize the support and service Mr. and Mrs. Bingham have devoted to the Library over many years. Mr. Hanley noted that both the Mayor and County Judge had been pleased with this proposal and that many felt the Library was the perfect place to commemorate the community achievements of these extraordinary people. The recommendation was approved unanimously.

Director's Report: Mr. Ptacek introduced Ms. Susan Baugh who is the new branch head at Valley Branch library.

Mr. Ptacek then introduced Ms. Pam Rogers of the Job Club who Planning Committee: Ms. Miller reported that the preliminary planning data had been collected, analyzed, and was being typed. Mr. Ptacek distributed samples of the draft planning document. He indicated that all prior planning documents had been included, where appropriate. Staff will review the draft and meet with the Planning Committee prior to the November meeting.

Library Broadcasting Committee: Ms. Goldberg reported that the Committee had reviewed the long range plan and that the program advisory groups had begun to meet. Mr. Weston announced that Broadcasting has been awarded a Southern Educational Communication Association certificate of merit for programming.

Continuing Education Committee: Ms. Goldberg reviewed the Committee memorandum of October 11, 1988. See attached Annex A. A calendar will be available at next month’s meeting for Commission members to sign, indicating when they will be giving their reports.

Ms. Goldberg then reported on the Black History Collection at Western Branch Library. The collection is of great interest and value to the Louisville community. The clipping files and Cotter materials are in need of preservation and cataloging. Ms. Goldberg emphasized the opportunity which the Black History Collection presented and the necessity of adequately funding its cataloging and preservation. Mr. Bently of the Filson Club and Ms. Receveur of City Archives have been contacted and are ready to assist in the project. Ms. Goldberg anticipated that money for such a project would be available from private sources.

Mr. Ptacek distributed a memorandum which contained a preliminary outline of action. See attached Annex B. Ms. Goldberg moved that the Director and staff prepare an in-depth study of what would be entailed, including costs, to catalog, preserve, and restore the current collection to be permanently housed at the Western Branch Library. RE: Western Black History Collection

Per our conversation concerning preservation of the Western Black History Collection:

1. The vertical file materials (approximately 10 drawers) can be microfilmed. There are several local commercial firms which can do the filming. However, the Kentucky Department for Libraries and Archives also has the capacity to microfilm and has filmed materials for other libraries. University of Louisville Archives is also capable of filming the materials. KDLA and U of L fees would be less than commercial firms. Neither would estimate a cost without first examining the collection.

2. Preservation of the original documents will be extremely difficult because of the acid paper involved. Ms. Lisa Fox SOLINET Preservation Program Director will be in Louisville November 3-4, 1988, to conduct a workshop on "Preservation of Library Materials: Fundamental Issues." While here, Fox could consult as how best to preserve the materials. A Technical Services staff member should also attend the workshop.

3. There are 3,500 titles in the Lost Cause microform collections at Western which need to be cataloged and added to the data base. Several items in the Western files such as the Cotter papers also need to be indexed and added to the data base. These tasks are estimated to require one year of professional cataloger's time.

RE: CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEARS HOLIDAYS
DATE: OCTOBER 17, 1988

It is recommended that the Library close on Saturday, December 24 and Monday, December 26, 1988. Christmas Eve and Christmas Day are holidays for bargaining unit staff. Christmas falls on Sunday this year, and according to City regulations and the union contract, it is to be celebrated on Monday.

Bargaining unit staff will work 4/5 of their schedules for the week ending December 24, 1988. Non bargaining unit staff will work their full schedule Monday through Friday for the week ending December 24, 1988.

It is also recommended that the Library close January 2, 1989, in celebration of the New Year's Day holiday. Again, the holiday falls on a Sunday and is celebrated on the following Monday. All staff will work 4/5 of their regular schedule for weeks ending December 31, 1988 and January 7, 1989.

for proposed mid year revisions in the budget.

Mr. Ptacek then reviewed the status of the computer system upgrade. He explained the increased costs and what funds would be used to meet them. See attached Annex A.

Planning Committee: Mr. Ptacek discussed a staff memorandum recommending the discontinuance of postal charges for the return of interlibrary loans. See attached Annex B. Dr. Byers moved approval of the recommendation, Ms. Dinnen seconded the motion, which passed.

Library Broadcasting Committee: Ms. Goldberg reported that the Advocates' January meeting had been cancelled. She also noted that the Library Foundation was showing some interest in Library Broadcasting projects.

Continuing Education Committee: Ms. Goldberg indicated that Ms. Nyberg's report on the Western Black History collection was due by January 20, 1989. Upon receipt it will be mailed to Commission members.

Ms. Dinnen reported on personnel practices and policies of the Library. City practices are used for non bargaining staff. Bargaining with staff and positions are covered by the contract.
The staff presently consists of 210 non professional and 50 professional positions. Orientation for new employees and continuing education are two areas of interest to the library.

Ms. Goldberg requested that information from the continuing education reports be retained so that it may be passed on to new Commission members.

President's Report: No report.

Librarian's Report: Mr. Ptacek called on Ms. Irving to report on book discussion groups in branch libraries. She noted that interest in such groups is growing, particularly after an article in the newspaper. Presently, seven branches have book discussion groups. Mr. Ptacek noted that such groups develop greater use of the libraries and wean patrons away from best sellers.

Mr. Ptacek reminded members of the program on January 19, 1989, celebrating the Bingham children's classics collection: Books to Build Dreams On.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 4:48 p.m.

RE : Automation System Upgrade
DATE : January 13, 1989

Begun in June, 1988, the negotiations with Data Research Associates for the proposed computer system upgrade have completed. Essentially, the plan is to replace two existing central processing units with a newer model, a more powerful processor with greater memory capacity. In turn, the current telecommunications network will be adapted in order to interface it with the new equipment. These changes are expected to markedly lessen response-time, which is a significant problem for us now; also, the added power will enable us to easily utilize programs which we have hesitated to install on our currently over-loaded system -- Material Booking, Acquisitions and Authority Control.

The total cost for the upgrade is $375,259.97. Funding for this project will be derived from two sources. The Library has received $40,000.00 from the State of Kentucky in the non-categorical grant in excess of the amount originally budgeted. These extra funds are a result of the State having more money available to allocate to the Louisville Free Public Library. The remaining $335,259.97 will be taken from the $420,000.00 appropriated to the Library from the City and the County.
The attached shows that our present practice of charging other libraries postage when we send books to them is not typical and should be discontinued.

We also recommend that discontinuing charging our patrons postage to return materials to lending libraries be considered.

RE : Interlibrary Loan Postage Charges

DATE : December 20, 1988

In response to your request for verification of the policy of charging postage to other Kentucky libraries, I have copied several pages from the Kentucky Library Network's OCM Catalog Users Manual. I have highlighted the postage section on each page. In looking through this manual it appears that postage is not charged by Kentucky libraries.

Rae Shepherd-Shlacter tells me that this is basically in compliance with the national interlibrary loan policy to not charge postage.

The Louisville Free Public Library Advisory Commission met on February 21, at 4:00 P.M. in the Board Room.

Present: Ms. Dinnen, Ms. Goldberg, Ms. Miller, Mrs. Orr, Dr. Byers, Mr. Hanley and Mr. Lester. Mr. Evans, Business Office; Mr. Hellner, Automation; Ms. James, Children's Services; Mr. Pennington, Physical Facilities; Ms. Roby, Extension Services; Mr. Weston, Library Broadcasting; Ms. Biemer, City Law Department; Ms. Yancy, League of Women Voters; the Director and Assistant Director also attended.

Absent: Ms. Carle.

Mr. Hanley presided.

Minutes: Ms. Dinnen moved acceptance, as distributed, of the minutes of the January 17, 1989 meeting. Mr. Lester seconded the motion, which passed.
Finance Committee: Ms. Orr read the certification of bills. Ms. Orr requested Mr. Ptacek review the mid year budget revision, which had been presented and accepted by the Finance Committee. (See attached Annex A.) Dr. Byers moved acceptance of the 1988-89 mid year budget revision. Mr. Lester seconded the motion, which passed.

Mr. Ptacek also presented information concerning the 1989-90 budget request. (See attached Annex B.) The budget request will consist, per County instructions, of a continuation budget plus a list of additional projects and plans for 1989-90.

Planning Committee: Mr. Ptacek reported that the public services sections of the long range plan were complete and being reviewed as to implications for support services. Mr. Ptacek also noted that he was participating in compiling the City's long range plan.

Library Broadcasting Committee: Mr. Ptacek noted that Broadcasting has needed to double its space. If adequate space for Broadcasting could be found off site, the space presently occupied by Broadcasting could be used for an auditorium, rare books room and storage. Private funding for such changes, and the renovation of the South Lobby, might form a project suitable for recommendation to the Foundation.
Ms. Goldberg reported that Fall, 1988, Arbitron ratings showed increases for both WKPK and WFPL. (See attached Annex C.)

Ms. Goldberg also noted that a contract for use of one of the subcarriers was now being drafted and would be ready for Commission action at the next meeting. Ms. Bonnie Biemer, City Law Department, is overseeing the contract.

Continuing Education Committee: Ms. Goldberg reported on activities concerning the Western Black History Collection. (See attached Annex D.) Ms. Goldberg moved that the Library purchase, from restricted funds, a hydrothermograph to begin monitoring of Western's environment. The motion was seconded and passed.

Mr. Hanley reported on computer assisted reference services. The use of such computer equipment as CD roms in giving reference services has expanded greatly within the last year. Some of the tools available in this format are: Newsbank, Books In Print, Business Index, Readers Guide, and Information Access. Patents are also accessed in this way. The new technology not only speeds up research but is more complete, because of additional search methods such as key word and the ability to go on line with the vendor to get the most current index entries.

President's Report: Mr. Hanley announced the new Foundation Officers:
Chairman: Mason Rudd
Vice Chairman: Keith Hanley
Secretary: Michael Harreld
Treasurer: W. H. Ptacek

Mr. Hanley indicated that it was a dynamic Board, under the leadership of Mr. Rudd, and he anticipated there would be close coordination with the Commission.

Librarian's Report: Mr. Ptacek noted that the circulation of the special collection of toys, adapted for use by handicapped children, had begun and was received with great enthusiasm.

The Middletown Branch Library move to larger quarters was accomplished in mid February. The new facility has 6,000 square feet and shelving for 50 to 60,000 volumes. A special dedication will be held in the future. Mr. Ptacek also suggested that the Commission hold its April meeting at the new facility.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 5:02 p.m.
The Louisville Free Public Library Advisory Commission met on March 21, 1989, at 4:00 P.M. in the Board Room.

Present: Ms. Carle, Ms. Miller, Mrs. Orr, Dr. Byers, Mr. Hanley, Mr. Reeves, Mr. Brown, Main Library; Mr. Evans, Business Office; Mr. Harris, Newman Branch; Ms. James, Children's Services; Mr. Jacobsen-Byer, Children's Services; Mr. Pennington, Physical Facilities; Mr. Rees, Main Library; Ms. Roby, Extension Services; Mr. Weston, Library Broadcasting; Ms. Downing, County Physical and Environmental Services Cabinet; Mr. Lukins, City Law Department; Ms. Major, League of Women Voters; the Director and Assistant Director also attended.

Absent: Ms. Dinnen, Ms. Goldberg, and Mr. Noyes.

Mr. Hanley presided.

Minutes: Ms. Miller moved acceptance, as distributed, of the minutes of the February 21, 1989, meeting. Ms. Carle seconded the motion, which passed.
Introductions: Mr. Hanley introduced Mr. David Reeves, new Commission member. He also announced that Mr. William Noyes had been appointed to the Commission.

Finance Committee: Ms. Orr announced that the prior month's bills had been certified as correct by the Business Manager and the Director. Ms. Orr reported on the County budget hearing which took place on March 16, 1989.

Mr. Ptacek distributed copies of the request continuation budget and reviewed the February monthly report. See attached Annex A.

Planning Committee: Mrs. Miller reported that the Committee met on March 17, 1989, to review past staff reports. Priority needs were: five new branches, increased branch hours, and increased staffing patterns at Main and branches. The Committee will meet again before the April Commission meeting.

Library Broadcasting Committee: Mr. Hanley reviewed the latest proposal for lease of a subcarrier channel by A.T.E. The Committee had agreed in concept to the proposed lease. The Commission approved the lease, subject to minor changes and clarifications. Mr. Lukins indicated he would transmit them to Ms. Biemer.
Continuing Education Committee: Dr. Byers distributed a staff report on the patents collection for review by Commission members. See attached Annex B. The patent collection will be discussed at the April meeting.

President's Report: Mr. Hanley announced that the April meeting would be held at the Middletown Branch Library.

Mr. Hanley reported on the quarterly Foundation meeting. Over $3,000,000 in pledges has been received and invested. $200,000 has been authorized to be spent on books this year. Mrs. Watson has resigned as Executive Director to take another position.

Mr. Hanley distributed copies of a resolution which would change the by-laws of the Commission to establish an Executive Committee. See attached Annex C. In accordance with the by-laws, the change will be voted on at the April meeting.

Librarian's Report: Mr. Ptacek called upon Ms. Roby to introduce Mr. Charles Harris, newly appointed head of Newman Branch, and Ms. James to introduce Mr. Harry Jacobsen-Byer, newly appointed Coordinator in Children's Services.

Mr. Ptacek requested the Assistant Director to report on the processing of new books. He indicated two additional staff had been added to Technical Services to handle the increased work load caused by the influx of Foundation funds. Productivity has also increased.

Adjournment: There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 4:58 p.m.

One year ago this month, the Louisville Free Public Library was officially designated a U.S. Patent Depository Library. A national network of over 60 Patent Depository libraries (see attachment number 1) automatically receives -- for a nominal statutory fee -- all new (approximately 77,000 per year) patents issued by the Patent and Trademark Office, an agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce. As the only patent depository library in Kentucky, the library provides unique access to over 4.8 million U.S. patents, the most comprehensive collection of technological information in the world. Only approximately 20% of this information is available through non-patent sources.

What is a Patent? A patent is a grant of a property right by a Government to an individual inventor. The term of the patent is 17 years from the date the patent is issued, subject to the payment of maintenance fees. The right conferred by the patent grant is "to exclude others from making, using or selling the invention." Some persons confuse patents and other forms of intellectual property, e.g., trademarks and copyrights. Trademark relates to any word, name, symbol or device (See attachment number 2) which is used in trade to indicate the source or origin of the goods and to distinguish them from the goods of others. Trademark rights may be used to prevent others from making the same goods or from selling them under a non-confusing mark. Trademarks and service marks which are used in interstate commerce may be registered in the Patent and Trademark Office. Copyright protects the writings of an author against copying. Literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works are included within the protection of the copyright law. Copyrights are registered with the Copyright Office in the Library of Congress, not the Patent and Trademark Office.

In Article 1, Section 8, the U.S. Constitution gives Congress the power to enact laws relating to patents: "Congress shall have the power ... to promote progress of science and the useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries." The first patent was issued in 1790 and signed by George Washington. While patent depository libraries automatically receive all new patents -- which include utility (e.g., mechanical, electrical or chemical), design and plant patents -- it is incumbent upon the individual library to obtain a basic 20-year backfile of patents. Through grants during the course of this first year of the patent system, the library has been successful in adding utility patent backfiles to 1971. Patents not in the library's collection may be obtained directly from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, from another patent depository library, or from a commercial service.

The library's patent collection is on self-threading, wholly self-contained microfilm cartridges which have proven to be the most effective, compact, and economical way of making this information available.

But why have a patent collection at LFPL? The goal of the Patent Office was to have at least one Patent Depository Library (PDL) in each state. Prior to March 1988 there was no PDL in Kentucky, so Kentucky patent patrons were constrained to invest time and money to utilize collections in other states. The Louisville Free Public Library was ideally suited to afford Kentucky users this valuable service. In addition, LFPL's service population includes the state's largest metropolitan area, and many of its largest corporations and organizations. The library is upgrading its science, business and technology collections which are further enhanced by the patent collection. The library is already a partial depository library for U.S. Government Documents, and so has many ancillary patent materials in its collection, e.g., Patent Gazettes (which list abridged forms of all new patents issued each Tuesday) back to 1872.

In addition, the patent collection serves as an essential resource to:

1. learn about existing U.S. patents in order to avoid possible infringement actions;
2. know the state of the art and monitor development in a specific technology in order to be aware of the latest development in a specific technology and update one’s knowledge or to locate relevant documents;
3. assess novelty and patentability of developments with a view toward applying for a U.S. patent or foreign industrial property right;
4. judge possible action, e.g., opposition proceedings concerning the validity of existing patents;
5. evaluate a specific technology and identify possible licensors;
6. identify alternate technology and its sources;
7. locate sources of know-how in a specific field;
8. improve on existing products or processes;
9. develop new products or processes;
10. judge an alleged innovation whether it qualifies for development, production or financial assistance;
11. solve a specific technical problem;
12. assess a particular technical approach -- if it had not been tried before and might be worth pursuing or if it would lead to wasteful duplication of research effort;

13. monitor the activities of competitors;

14. survey the market to identify a gap or to discover new trends at an early stage and to forecast major changes in technology or competition.

In addition to having U.S. patents since 1971, the library also has patent reference materials (see attached patent collection brochure) which allow patrons manually to search the collection. The Patent and Trademark Office has also furnished the library with a CD-ROM workstation which allows patrons electronically to search the collection. Patrons may use this CD-ROM CASSIS (Classification and Search Support Information System) free and even download parts of the U.S. Patent index, assignee, or Manual of Classifications files to their own floppy disks.

The library patent collection is a very popular resource. It has been promoted through articles in Business First, The Louisville Bar Association's Bar Brief, the Louisville Courier-Journal, the Advanced Technology Council Newsletter, etc. In December of last year, the Patent Depository Library Program gave a free, all-day workshop which drew 90 people. Library staff also provided workshops as part of last month's National Innovation Workshop held in Louisville. Generally speaking, two patrons a day use the collection; sometimes they come long distances. The library does copy and mail (or FAX) patents to patrons, and has developed a billing system for regular users such as American Synthetic Rubber, Middleton and Reutlinger attorneys, HLPM Inc., and others.

A sample patent is attached.

The first electric motor is mounted to the rear frame member and is used to drive the tractor wheels. A second electric motor is mounted to the front frame member and is used to drive the power-take-off shaft and the hydraulic articulation apparatus.
electronic vehicles have a useful operating life far longer than vehicles with internal combustion engines. In general, electric vehicles require much less maintenance than those powered by internal combustion engines. Reduced maintenance expenses and "down time" are significant.

Electric vehicles are extremely easy to operate, quick to respond, and start with the flick of a switch. Since they do not produce toxic exhaust fumes, they may be safely used in many areas and frequently close to livestock. Energy conservation is an important feature in reducing harming loss among farmers and in minimizing noise which is particularly objectionable in urban fringe areas. More significantly, quiet operation allows a skilled operator to hear and detect equipment problems and more carefully observe livestock health.

Energy conservation with today's farmer. This fact is evidenced by intense interest in alcohol, solar, wind and other alternative energy sources. The energy vulnerability of farm operations can be greatly reduced by the adoption of electric vehicles. Electricity is inherently more versatile than oil-derived fuels and can be generated from a great variety of energy sources. Although all fuel costs will likely increase over the years, it is believed that oil-derived fuel costs will increase more rapidly than electrical costs. Studies conducted by the Department of Energy, however, have concluded that with predicted technological advances, electric vehicles will be over 50% less expensive to operate than those powered by internal combustion engines. Electric tractors will undoubtedly play an increasingly important role in agricultural applications. Their advantages are well documented. There is a continuing need for electric tractors with different power output characteristics. The electric tractor should have a power-take-off which can be operated at a wide variety of speeds independently from the drive motor. The electric tractor should be reliable and require infrequent maintenance. In addition, the tractor should be safe, clean, quiet and easy to operate.

SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION

The present invention is a battery-powered electric tractor which includes a frame upon which structural elements of the tractor are mounted. Ground-engaging means support the frame for over-the-ground travel. The tractor also includes power-take-off means mounted to the frame for driving implements. First electric motor means are mounted to the frame and are used to drive a power-take-off means. Both the first and second electric motor means are supplied with electric energy from storage means. In preferred embodiments, the frame is articulated and includes first and second frame members which are pivotally connected for movement about a substantially vertical axis. Hydraulic articulation means are used to pivot the front and rear frame members with respect to each other. The hydraulic means are driven by the first electric motor means. In still other embodiments, the storage means include batteries and the ground-engaging means include wheels. Electric control means are used to control the flow of electric energy from the batteries to the first and second motor means in response to operator controlled transducer means. The control means vary the width and frequency of voltage pulses applied to the motor means.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE PREFERRED EMBODIMENTS

Battery-powered electric tractor 10 of the present invention is illustrated generally in FIG. 1. Tractor 10 is very easy to operate and requires little maintenance. Studies have shown that the vehicle is well suited for many "chore-type" tasks, including scraping, hauling and feedlot operation.

As shown in FIG. 1, tractor 10 includes frame 12 upon which all mechanical structures of the vehicle are assembled. Positioned near a front of frame 12 is cab 14. An operator of electric tractor 10 will be seated within cab 14. Cab 14 will include all control apparatus required to operate the vehicle. Although not shown, control apparatus will include a start switch, speed control levers, gear selection levers, and various instruments. Steering wheel 16 is also positioned within cab 14 and is used to steer the vehicle.

In preferred embodiments, tractor 10 is a four-wheel drive vehicle. As shown in FIG. 1, ground-engaging wheels 22 are mounted to axles 23. Ground-engaging wheels 22 are driven by an electric motor and drive system which will be fully described. Tractor 10 is powered by batteries 18 which are shown mounted near a rear of frame 12. Batteries 18 are enclosed by panels 20.

A. Frame

Frame 12 of tractor 10 is best illustrated in FIG. 2. In a preferred embodiment, frame 12 is fabricated and includes first frame member 30 and second frame member 32. As shown, first and second frame members 30 and 32, respectively, are generally rectangular in shape. Support gussets 34 are rigidly mounted to frame 12 and are used as supports onto which other structural elements of tractor 10 are mounted.

First and second frame members 30 and 32, respectively, are pivotally connected together by pivot apparatus 36, which includes a plurality of brackets 37 (two are shown in FIG. 2), which are mounted to first and second frame members 30 and 32. Pivot pin 39 interconnects brackets 37. Pivot apparatus 36 allows first and second frame members 30 and 32, respectively, to pivot with respect to one another about a generally vertical axis.

In preferred embodiments, hydraulic means such as hydraulic jacks 38 are used to move the first and second frame members with respect to each other. As shown, each hydraulic jack 38 includes a cylinder 40 which is pivotally mounted to an outer edge of second frame member 32. Each hydraulic jack 38 also includes piston 42 which is pivotally mounted near an outer edge of first frame member 30. Hydraulic jacks 38 are supplied with hydraulic fluid carried within a reservoir on frame 12 (not shown). The reservoir is in turn driven by hydraulic pump 44. The hydraulic control system is used to actuate hydraulic jacks 38 in response to motion of steering wheel 16. Although not shown, hydraulic control systems of this type are common and well known within the art.

Although preferred embodiments of tractor 10 have been described with reference to frame 12 which is articulated, it must be understood that a conventional frame and steering mechanism may also be used. In preferred embodiments, frame 12 is comprised of an articulated frame manufactured by the Versatile Company of Canada.

B. Electric Motors

Electric tractor 10 of the present invention utilizes two independently-controlled electric motors. Traction motor 50, as best shown in FIG. 2, is used to drive ground-engaging wheels 22. PTO motor 52 is used to drive a power-take-off. Through the use of two separate motors, each individually controlled, it is possible to independently vary vehicle speed and power-take-off speed. This feature significantly enhances the capabilities of electric tractor 10.

As shown in FIG. 2, traction motor 50 is mounted by brackets 34 to second section 32 of frame 12. In preferred embodiments, traction motor 50 is comprised of a 50 horsepower DC series wound motor manufactured by the General Electric Company. This motor has a one hour rating of 50 HP at 1500 rpm. Operating speed range of traction motor 50 is between 930 and 2750 rpm.

Although traction motor 50 can operate at speeds lower than 930 rpm, these speeds are undesirable due to large current demand. Operation at speeds in excess of 2750 rpm can result in damage to traction motor 50. These speeds are prevented by an "overspeed" switch which will be described subsequently. Traction motor 50 can supply 17 kw for one hour and 81 kw for 1.3 minutes.

Also included within traction motor 50 is a thermistor (shown in FIG. 4), which controls the operation of a blower for cooling the motor when a particular temperature is reached.

PTO motor 52 is preferably mounted to first section 30 of frame 12. In preferred embodiments, PTO motor 52 is a DC series wound 25 HP motor manufactured by the General Electric Company. This motor has a one hour rating of 17 kw. Like traction motor 50, PTO motor 52 includes a thermistor controlled blower for cooling and overspeed protection.

C. Batteries

Electric tractor 10 is powered by industrial grade lead-acid batteries 18. Batteries 18 are preferably installed in two units, each having 32 cells. This arrangement provides a nominal operating voltage of 128 volts. The batteries currently used have a capacity of 340 amp-hours at a six hour discharge rate. Batteries 18 are capable of powering tractor 10 for four to eight hours in a typical farm chore routine. Recent interest in electric power has been generating advances in battery technology. It is expected that batteries having characteristics far exceeding those described above will be available within the upcoming years.

The capacity and discharge energy of lead-acid batteries 18 are severely affected by low temperatures.
This can create problems for a tractor which is used in colder environments. One method utilized in the present invention to overcome the problem is to provide a layer of insulation around batteries 18. An alternative technique might be to include a heating system within the battery compartment.

The current charge condition of batteries 18 is important information for the operator of tractor 10. Electric tractor 10 therefore includes instrumentation within cab 14 which displays information on the current state of charge of batteries 18. Voltmeters register the effective voltage which is being applied to traction motor 50 and PTO motor 52. Ammeters display instantaneous current consumption of both motors. A tachometer indicates the rotational speed of each motor. Also included is a ‘fuel gauge’ which provides the operator with an indication of the state of charge of the batteries. The initial battery condition is used as a reference point and each weekly/monthly consumption is subtracted from this reference.

Batteries 18 require periodic maintenance. Specific gravity of the electrolyte within each battery cell must be measured periodically, at least once per month. In addition, the specific gravity in two pilot cells, one in each unit of the battery, is checked on a daily basis. Batteries 18 must be re-charged when their capacity has been reduced to 20% of its nominal rating. Recharging typically takes from six to eight hours, depending on the final discharge rate of the battery.

D. Transmission and Drive System

The transmission and drive system for electric tractor 10 is best illustrated in FIGS. 2 and 3. Rotational motion is transferred from traction motor 50 to transmission 60 by belt 86 and pulley 88. As shown in FIG. 2, transmission 60 is mounted to second member 32 of frame member 30. In a preferred embodiment, transmission 60 is a three-speed unit. The first gear ratio has an overall ratio of 72:1, the second gear has a ratio of 36.4:1, while the third gear has a ratio of 17.67:1. Ground speed of tractor 10 within these three gears is 0-4, 4-16, and 0-24 km/hr., respectively. Gear ratio of transmission 60 is selected by the operator through controls within cab 14.

A preferred embodiment, electric tractor 10 is a four-wheel drive vehicle and includes first differential 64 mounted to first frame member 30 and a second differential 66 mounted to second frame member 32. Transmission 60 drives first differential 64 and second differential 66 through second and third drive shafts 68 and 70, respectively. First, second and third drive shafts 62, 64, 66, and 70, respectively, each include at least one universal joint.

Differentials 64 and 66 transmit power through axles (not shown) to axle gear boxes 72. Each axle gear box 72 includes axle 74 upon which ground-engaging wheels 22 are mounted. The transmission and drive system described above is identical to that manufactured by the Versatile Company and included on the Versatile 160 Tractor.

PTO motor 52 is used to drive power-take-off shaft 80. PTO motor 52 is coupled to power-take-off shaft 80 through fourth drive shaft 68 and fourth gear box 88. Driving PTO output shaft 80 by PTO motor 52 has been found to be very advantageous. The system allows an operator to vary the speed of PTO output shaft 80 anywhere within the operating speed range of PTO motor 52. Output speed of PTO shaft 80 is therefore independent of traction motor 50 and vehicle speed. This feature is very convenient and useful in many applications.

Although the hydraulic system of electric tractor 10, including pump 42, could be driven by a third electric motor, it has been found to be both cost and power efficient to drive hydraulic pump 42 by PTO motor 52. As shown in FIG. 2, hydraulic pump 42 is driven from PTO motor 52 by belt 86 and pulley 88.

E. Electric Control System

An electric control system for electric tractor 10 is illustrated in FIG. 4. The electric control system is used to regulate the flow of electric energy from batteries 18 to both traction motor 50 and PTO motor 52. In preferred embodiments, the electrical control system includes two controllers manufactured by the Cableform Company. Controller 90 is used to regulate the flow of electric energy from batteries 18 to traction motor 50. Similarly, controller 92 regulates the flow of electric energy from batteries 18 to PTO motor 52. Controllers 90 and 92 operate in an identical manner. Each controller applies pulse width modulated (PWM) and/or frequency modulated (FM) voltage pulses to the respective motor.

To vary the speed of either motor, an operator will adjust the position of a control lever located within cab 14. The control lever is attached to a potentiometer which supplies a voltage of zero to five volts to input logic circuitry within the controller. Circuitry within the controller converts this voltage signal to a signal of proportional frequency. This signal is further processed and applied to switching terminals 94 and 96 of silicon controlled rectifiers (SCR) when turned on. SCR 97 interconnects batteries 18 with traction motor 50. Similarly, batteries 18 are interconnected with PTO motor 52 when SCR 98 is switched on. When SCR 97 and 98 are turned on, the full 120 volt potential of batteries 18 is applied across traction motor 50 and PTO motor 52, respectively. The pulse width modulated and frequency modulated signals applied to switching terminals 94 and 96 result in voltage pulses of varying duty cycle being applied to traction motor 50 and PTO motor 52, respectively. Speed of motors 50 and 52 is thereby varied since they respond only to an average of the applied voltage.

The electric control system shown in FIG. 4 also includes a tach/overspeed circuit 100. Traction motor speed and PTO motor speed are monitored by tachometers 102 and 104, respectively. Transducers 102 supplies an electrical signal indicative of speed of traction motor 50. Similarly, transducer 104 supplies an electrical signal indicative of PTO motor 52. When either the PTO or traction motor reaches its maximum operating speed, tach/overspeed circuit 100 detects this state and actuates a device such as a relay (not shown) which overrides the respective controller and disconnects batteries 18 from the motor. The principal object of tach/overspeed circuit 100 is, therefore, to provide protection for traction motor 50 and PTO motor 52.

A preferred embodiment of tach/overspeed circuit 100 is illustrated in FIG. 5. Traction motor speed sensor 102 provides an electrical signal indicative of traction motor rpm. Frequency-to-voltage conversion circuit 104 converts that signal into a voltage signal representa-

RE:  Western Black History Collection Update

1. The hydrothermograph has been ordered and delivery is expected within two weeks.
2. Ms. Samuels has recommended that the Librarian's Office would be a better location for the Collection. It is easier to control the physical environment and monitor patron use because of its location. This will be the area monitored by the hydrothermograph.
3. The City Law and Insurance Departments have been contacted and alerted to the project.
4. Ms. Samuels has been removing first editions and other unique items from open shelves.
5. Concerning a project director: Ms. Arnita Jones has contacted Western Branch, but has not reviewed the collection. Ms. Samuels has gotten another possible name for project director: Ms. Gina Kinchlow. Her resume is attached.
6. Jim Nelson, State Librarian, has been contacted and is arranging for Archives staff to review the collection. Archives presently deals with microfilming, encapsulation, and lamination. They are also getting into the area of photograph preservation. Some of these services may be provided for the collection. Archives will also be able to help us construct a budget for the project.
7. Ms. Roby and I would recommend that the advisory group meet once more in May, after the visit of State Archives staff, to make final recommendations on the project.

RE: VARIABLE LOAN PERIODS

COMMITTEE REPORT ON VARIABLE LOAN PERIODS FOR HIGH-DEMAND MATERIALS

The committee examined the feasibility of establishing varying loan periods of seven or fourteen days for materials of high demand in order to make those materials available to an increased number of patrons. The shorter loan periods were considered for such items as best sellers, other books with long reserve lists, and science fair materials. Among the topics discussed were the potential advantages and disadvantages of such loan periods to patrons, planning and policy considerations, and staff requirements for selecting and converting materials.

PATRON CONSIDERATIONS

While the seven or fourteen-day loan period could provide high-demand materials for an increased number of patrons in a given period of time, some problems are anticipated.

Materials checked out on the same date could have different due dates. This may result in confusion or inconvenience for some patrons, or overdue fines for the patron who is not aware that certain materials are due before others checked out on the same date.

The patron who could not finish a book in seven or fourteen days would not be able to renew the book. This problem would be compounded for the patron who reserves a number of books that become available at the same time. The patron may be discouraged from reserving books if it is thought that the shorter loan period does not provide enough time to finish one or more books.

A patron may prefer to pay an overdue fine of thirty cents per week in order to finish a book. That book would not be available more quickly for the next patron as anticipated by the shorter loan period.
Patron complaints can be expected when a patron has waited some time for a reserve book and is informed that it must be returned in less than 28 days or when a patron does not realize a book is due in a shorter period of time and incurs fines. Although it is assumed that all materials with shorter loan periods would be clearly marked as such on both the outside of the book and on the due date card, occasional processing or circulation problems (a seven or fourteen-day loan period sticker comes loose, or the wrong due date card is put in the pocket) would result in further complaints.

The patron who could not finish a book in seven or fourteen days would not be able to renew the book. This problem would be compounded for the patron who reserves a number of books that become available at the same time. The patron may be discouraged from reserving books if it is thought that the shorter loan period does not provide enough time to finish on or more books.

A patron may prefer to pay an overdue fine of thirty cents per week in order to finish a book. That book would not be available more quickly for the next patron as anticipated by the shorter loan period.

POLICY AND PLANNING CONSIDERATION

Planning and policies are necessary to provide for consistency in establishing shorter loan periods for high-demand materials.

Categories of materials (best sellers, books with long reserve lists, science fair materials, etc.) must be identified for short-term loan periods. The length of those loan periods (seven or fourteen days) must be determined, as well as the length of time particular categories of materials would be circulated for shorter periods.

The specific staff positions responsible for the selection and conversion of individual titles for short-term loan periods must be determined.

STAFF CONSIDERATIONS

When guidelines are established and duties are assigned, it is necessary to allocate sufficient staff time for the selection and conversion of materials to the shorter loan period.

Selection of titles will require staff time at branches and Main Library departments in three areas. Initially, collections in branches or departments must be searched for titles within pre-selected categories that are suited for short-term loan periods. Secondly, on an ongoing basis, this determination must be made for new or replacement titles and for titles and for titles that will be part of a temporary short-term loan period.
collection. Third, one or more staff members will require time to determine when the short-term loan period is no longer necessary for particular titles. Although general policy guidelines are recommended for categories of materials for short-term loan periods, and for the length of time materials have short-term loan periods, staff time will invariably be necessary in branches and Main Library departments for these decisions regarding individual titles.

Clerical staff time requirements will fall into the same areas.
Three immediate tasks will initially require staff time at branches and in the Main Library's Circulation Department or Technical Services. A change in the material code in the "item maintenance" record must be made to reflect a loan period of less than 28 days (as with reference books when circulated and videos). The front cover and/or spine of a book must be clearly labelled, as well as the pocket of the book, so that patrons are aware of the shorter loan period. The same process is necessary for new and replacement titles (either centrally in Technical Services or at the branches) or those selected temporarily for short-term loan periods. The material code will have to be changed again, the labels removed, and the pockets replaced when it is determined that the short-term loan period is no longer preferred.

In addition, staff time and attention will be necessary on a constant basis in the circulation of short-term loan period materials. Varying due dates must be stamped on due cards. (For the benefit of the patron and the person working the circulation desk the short-term due date cards should be of a contrasting color.) Careful attention must be paid at the circulation desk to placing the correct due date card in the pocket at checkout and calling the patron's attention to the shorter loan period.

Procedures for shelving short-term loan period materials must be established at branches and in departments. The question of whether these materials would be shelved separately must be addressed, especially in light of the fact that a shortage of space now exists in some branches and some Main Library departments.

Extra supplies -- labels or stickers for covers, pockets and/or due date cards of contrasting color -- are necessary.

CONCLUSION

Given adequate opportunity for careful planning, selection, and conversion, the library could loan high-demand materials for periods of less than 28 days. However, it can not be assumed that the wait for reserve books would be reduced noticeably enough to offset potential problems for and with patrons.
Considering present staff and time constraints, the committee does not recommend that the library institute loan periods of less than 28 days at this time.

RE: CHARGES FOR ON-LINE SEARCHING
DATE: JULY 10, 1989

After July 13, 1989 the scheduled date for a training session in the use of the on-line component of our computerized Wilson indexes we would like to begin doing on-line searching when appropriate.

Use of Wilson's on-line component will be a way to get comfortable with searching before beginning use of other on-line services in the future.

Cost: The use of Wilson on-line will cost about $60 per hour, with a typical search averaging around ten minutes in length.

Charges: Approaches to charging patrons for on-line searching varies widely from library to library. After reviewing the literature and talking with librarians in other areas we recommend the following: An individual or company will be given $20.00 free searching per month and be charged the full cost of searching beyond $20.00.

This approach will not prohibit any individual or organization from using the service while at the same time placing a reasonable limit on cost.

A budget of $5,000 could be established for on line search cost.
Our policy on charging could be reviewed at the end of the six months or at a time when three fourth's of the budget is expended.

The only branch that received a cut from last year is Okolona, due to the delay in their expansion. Other branches which received a large increase last year remained the same this year. This includes Middletown, who still has many empty shelves to fill. Crescent Hill and Iroquois branches received the largest increases this year in anticipation of expansion projects. In dividing the allocation, we maintained previously used percentages of 36% for children's and 64% for adult, overall.

The Louisville Free Public Library Advisory Commission met on August 15, 1989, at 4:00 P.M. at the Main Library.

Present: Ms. Dinnen, Ms. Goldberg, Ms. Miller, Ms. Orr, Dr. Byers, and Mr. Reeves. Mr. Brown, Main Library; Mr. Evans, Business Office; Mr. Pennington, Physical Facilities; Mr. Rees, Main Library; Ms. Roby, Extension Services; Mr. Weston, Library Broadcasting; and the Acting Director also attended.

Absent: Ms. Carle, Mr. Hanley, and Mr. Noyes.

Ms. Orr presided.

Minutes: The minutes of the July 18, 1989, meeting were approved as distributed.

Finance Committee: Ms. Dinnen read the certification of bills. Mr. Garnar reviewed format changes in the financial and service statistics reports for July.
Planning Committee: Ms. Miller called upon Mr. Brown and Mr. Rees to report on Main Library in relation to the Library's long range needs. With the needed growth in the collections, caused by Foundation funds, space will be totally used in the next 10 to 15 years. New technologies and use of microforms will impact how quickly current space is filled. New technologies such as CD-Roms and Fax machines, while expediting the exchange of information, will necessitate additional personnel. The increase in the size of the collections will also necessitate additional staff to maintain them. New sources of information and larger collections will also necessitate increasing staff expertise through staff development and in-service training.

Library Broadcasting Committee: Ms. Goldberg reported on the regular committee meeting and requested that Mr. Weston review the summary of Library Broadcasting activities, which had been distributed. Mr. Weston also reported on Library Broadcasting's use of telemarketing as a new source of funds.

Continuing Education Committee: Ms. Goldberg reported that a luncheon would be held on September 5, 1989, to introduce the African American Historical Collection project to leaders in the community. Naming the collection was deferred.

Ms. Miller reported on the Main Library's Special Collection. The collection contains a wide variety of items and is especially strong in 19th century natural history items. Many of the items are in need of restoration. The Friends of the Library are considering underwriting the costs of a visit from SOLINET staff to assess the preservation needs of the collection.
President's Report: Ms. Orr reported that the Search Committee had met with Ms. Terry Miller Campbell of Korn/Ferry. The search process is underway. The Committee will meet again with Ms. Campbell before the next Commission meeting.

Librarian's Report: Mr. Garnar distributed copies of the new lap learners brochure, Best Seller, and the organization chart. He also reviewed the status of capital projects. See attached Annex A.

Adjournment: There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 5:07 p.m.

The Louisville Free Public Library Advisory Commission met on September 19, 1989, at 4:00 P.M. at the Main Library.

Present: Ms. Carle, Ms. Dinnen, Ms. Goldberg, Ms. Miller, Ms. Orr, Dr. Byers, Mr. Hanley, and Mr. Reeves. Mr. Brown, Main Library; Mr. Hellner, Automation; Ms. James, Children's Services; Ms. Masuhr, Community Relations; Ms. Roby, Extension Services; Mr. Weston, Library Broadcasting; Ms. Biemer, City Law Department; Ms. Downing, County Physical and Environment Services; and the Acting Director also attended.

Mr. Hanley presided.

Minutes: Ms. Orr moved approval of the minutes of the August 15, 1989, meeting. Mr. Reeves seconded the motion and the motion was approved.

Finance Committee: Ms. Orr read the certification of bills.

Planning Committee: Ms. Miller reported that the Committee had met prior to this meeting. The Summer Cool Program, funded by Commissioner Gorman, was a success. Children's Services staff will assess whether it is feasible and necessary to continue the program year round. In October, a tutoring program will begin in all 14 branches.
County plans for the expansion of Okolona Branch are now being reviewed by library staff.

Ms. Miller also reported that Extension Services and Physical Facilities are currently updating and revising maintenance and capital programs. The preliminary plan for the Iroquois branch expansion was also reviewed.

Mr. Weston reported on the long range needs for Library Broadcasting. Space is the prime concern, followed by more staff.

Library Broadcasting: Ms. Goldberg referred Commission members to the memorandum of activities, which was distributed prior to the meeting. Note was made of the $45,762 matching federal grant for equipment. The matching funds have already been approved by the City.

Continuing Education: Ms. Goldberg reported that a luncheon had been held on September 5, 1989, for community leaders, to introduce the plan for restoring the African American Historical Collection housed at the Western Branch Library. Ms. Goldberg commended Commissioner Owens for his support of the project and his pledge of $7,500 to cover the costs of the project director. Reverend Arthur Smith, Alderman, has introduced an ordinance for $28,000 to cover the costs of room renovation and restoration of the materials. A local firm has been approached to underwrite the $45,000 cost of cataloging the materials. A $500 donation has been received toward the $30,000 endowment to maintain the collection, and future additions to it.
Ms. Goldberg recommended that a small advisory board be established, as a support group, to oversee the future upkeep of the collection. Ms. Miller and Dr. Byers concurred and indicated that a mission statement and objectives should be developed for the advisory board. This met with the general consensus of the Commission.

Mr. Hanley commended Ms. Goldberg and Ms. Miller on their activities in connection with the collection.

Ms. Dinnen reported on the variety of children's programming. Large systemwide programs, such as Summer Reading, are planned centrally. Other programs, such as Parents and Tots, and holiday programs, are devised in individual branches. Ms. Dinnen pointed out that children's programming funds are limited. Mr. Hanley requested that the Planning Committee look into the matter.

President's Report: Mr. Hanley reported that there had been no response from Mr. Noyes concerning his attendance. He requested a motion to remove Mr. Noyes from the Commission, in accordance with the City/County Compact and the Commission By-Laws, and to so inform the County Judge/Executive. Dr. Byers so moved, Ms. Dinnen seconded the motion, and the motion passed.

Mr. Hanley reported on the work of the Search Committee. The list of applicants has been winnowed from 33 to 9. Those 9 will be interviewed by Korn/Ferry and 4 to 5 will be brought to Louisville for interviews with the Committee, Mayor, County Judge/Executive, and others. Scheduling of the interviews will depend on the availability of the applicants. Mr. Hanley expressed the hope that a new Director would be on board by December 1, 1989. He noted that the Foundation should have a new Executive Director about the same time.
Mr. Hanley announced that the October meeting would be held at the Eline Branch Library.

Librarian's Report: Mr. Garnar announced that the Kentucky Library Association's Trustee Luncheon would take place on October 12, 1989.

ANNEX A

LOUISVILLE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY
MEMORANDUM

TO: Dr. Byers
FROM: Darlene Roby
DATE: November 20, 1989
RE: Adult Programming in Branches

Although there have been attempts at programming for adults throughout the library's history, we have mainly been known for children's programs. Three years ago we decided to reinstitute adult programming. Last year, alone, the branches hosted 500 programs with over 12,000 adults attending.

Just as we build our book collections to support the educational and recreational reading needs of the community, we also try to provide educational and recreational programming. To educate, we have presented programs on history, health, current interest topics, parenting skills, literature, travel, and many more subjects. For recreation we have hosted craft classes, film series, and musical performances. Sometimes education and recreation are combined, as evidenced by the 2,000 plus people who attended the Fontaine Ferry video program series. We learned about the history of our community while reminiscing about one of our favorite childhood memories.

Each program presented represents a lot of planning on the part of several people. First, you must decide what kind of program your community is interested in, then you must determine who to contact who may be a speaker. Once a presenter has agreed to come, a date and time must be chosen. All of this information is then turned into promotion. A flyer is designed, printed, mailed to a mailing list created for each branch, and then distributed to patrons at each branch library. A press release is written and sent to all media. On the day of the program, the meeting room needs to be rearranged to accommodate the anticipated audience, equipment needs to be checked to assure it is in working order, and refreshments are prepared. One individual, usually the branch head, meets and greets the speaker and audience beforehand and then introduces the speaker. After the program, there is still clean-up, thank you notes, and program reports to file. All-in-all, programming is a labor intensive proposition.
Programming ideas are developed in several ways. Most often, branch heads plan programs using community contacts. Occasionally programs are planned through the Extension Office. These programs are usually series and are held at more than one branch. Often a program is tried out at one branch and, if it is successful, it will be offered to other branches.

Through the past three years, we have developed close alliances with other agencies or institutions, such as the University of Louisville's Office of Continuing Education. With that office we coordinate a spring and fall lecture series each year. This series is gaining popularity. Two years ago we worked with County Government's Jefferson Discovery to present a series on local history. This kind of community networking is invaluable.

We strive not to duplicate the programming efforts of other groups and churches, but attempt to find a unique niche in the community. It has been stated in past monthly reports that the number of programs is down, but attendance is up, and this indicates that what we are doing is being well-received.

Dear Mayor O'Daniel:

Library service statistics at the Newman Branch are impressive. Approximately 10,000 books, magazines, records, and cassettes are checked out each month. In addition, over 1,000 children visit the library each quarter and adult programming attendance is on the rise. A look at statistics for the past decade show a dramatic increase in library use:

The West Wing Reading Area provides a place of study for serious students and a quiet reading area for adults. We are currently hosting a tutoring program there on Saturday mornings. Over 330 children and adults were entertained at the 2nd Annual Haunted House which you helped us present.

These impressive figures indicate the growth of Newman Branch and support our need for additional space. We would like to discuss our space needs with you. Two possibilities are additional space from the building’s auditorium, or reversing some of the existing library and city space.

The Library Advisory Commission appreciates the continued assistance and support of you and the Shively City Council. We would welcome the opportunity to discuss our space needs with you in the near future.

Sincerely,

Harriet Henderson

Dear Mr. Thatcher:

This will confirm our telephone conversation expressing the library's interest in receiving Blue Life Book as a gift.

As you know, the library has been unable to raise any funds for the purchase of the sculpture. We would commit, however, to have the sculpture moved from the Speed Museum and installed outside the Main Library in a permanent, appropriate setting.

The City of Louisville has just received a conceptual study for development of our downtown area. The addition of art in public places, such as Blue Life Book, is certainly congruent with this study's recommendations.

I look forward to hearing from you regarding the artist's willingness to contribute Blue Life Book to the Louisville Free Public Library.

Sincerely,

Harriet Henderson

RE: Staff Development Day

We have discussed, on several occasions, the importance of continuing education and training for staff at all levels of the organization, and the importance of recognizing staff achievements.

Therefore, I have begun planning an annual Staff Development Day, with the assistance of our Staff Association and our bargaining unit's Training Committee. Our preliminary model includes morning speakers for the staff as a whole, with afternoon workshops on specific topics related to individual job assignments.

In addition, the Friends of the Library have established the Florinne Kammerer Award to recognize excellence in service at the branch library level. This award was made possible by contributions made in memory of Miss Kammerer, who was coordinator of branch libraries until her retirement. A staff committee will be determining award criteria.

I recommend that the library system be closed on Friday, September 21, for Staff Development Day.

RE: Mary Dorward Trusts

I have been notified by Citizens Fidelity Bank's Trust Division that the Louisville Free Public Library will soon receive approximately $385,000 in distribution of two trusts established for Mary Smith Dorward.

The provisions of the trusts are as follows:

Mary Dorward Fund 3:
Upon the death of Mary Smith Dorward, the Trustee shall distribute all the then principal and income of the trust, other than any amount due Mary Smith Dorward, to the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library, such funds to be held by the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library in further trust, and the net income therefrom shall be annually paid to the Louisville Free Public Library to be used to purchase books for use in the Library. (Settlor requests, but does not require, the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library, as Trustee, to utilize the services of Citizens Fidelity Bank and Trust Company as agent for investments in respect to this trust.)

Mary Dorward Fund 4:
Upon the death of MARY SMITH DORWARD, the Trustee shall distribute all the then principal and income of the trust, other than any amount due MARY SMITH DORWARD, to the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library, such funds to be held by the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library in further trust, and the net income therefrom shall be annually paid to the Louisville Free Public Library to be used to purchase books for use in the Library that are not provided for in regular budget of the Library.

I assume the Library Advisory Commission will follow past practice and accept these funds according to its resolution of 1986 (copy attached). Once this action is taken, I will arrange for the transfer of these funds to the Library Foundation.

Miss Dorward was the sister of Margaret Dorward Smock. Mrs. Smock named the library as the trusts' remainder beneficiary. I have asked Citizens Fidelity to assist us in locating and appropriately contacting any living relatives of Mrs. Smock.

RESOLUTION OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF LOUISVILLE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY

WHEREAS, the Louisville Free Public Library Foundation, Inc., was established as a charitable and educational foundation to preserve capital assets of the Louisville Free Public Library and to obtain significantly larger donations from private sources through systematic fund-raising campaigns to supplement the public funds provided for the Library by governmental entities including the City of Louisville and the Jefferson County Fiscal Court, and

WHEREAS, it has historically proved difficult for a tax-supported institution such as the Library to raise significant supplemental funds from private sources directly, and

WHEREAS, under the provisions of the Articles of Incorporation of the Foundation, its funds can be spent only for the purpose of benefiting, promoting, supporting, encouraging, and enhancing the programs and services of the Louisville Free Public Library, and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library has proposed to transfer certain of the Library's capital assets to the Foundation to insure their preservation and maximum possible benefit for the Library and all of its programs, and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees desires to transfer certain assets to the Foundation in aid of the Library and all of the programs aforesaid, and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees wishes to use the Foundation as a base to raise private donations and to establish adequate legal standards and safeguards to guide and control the Foundation in its custody and use of the transferred assets, and to insure proper accountability to the Trustees and sufficient recourse for the Trustees or the Library Commission to remedy any possible errors or misapplication of assets on the part of the Foundation.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved that the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library hereby adopt the following criteria, regulations, and restrictions regarding all transfers of real and personal property, cash, contract rights, choses in action, and any other assets or property rights by it to the Louisville Free Public Library Foundation; it being understood, however, that none of these restrictions shall apply to any funds or property transferred directly to the Foundation and given to it in its name by private donors:

1. Although assets may be transferred by the Trustees to the Foundation through any form of legal conveyance including fee simple absolute or its equivalent, in trust, or the like, the Trustees shall permanently retain the power to revoke in its entirety, including the return of principal, interest, and income, any transfer of any asset or assets to the Foundation in the event that such asset is, in the judgment of the Trustees or Library Commission, not being properly utilized for the sole purpose of promoting, expanding, improving or otherwise benefiting the Library; or that the asset is not being properly and diligently invested, insured, or otherwise protected and preserved in compliance with the standard of care of a reasonable and prudent business person dealing with the money or property of another in a fiduciary capacity; or that the employment, use, investment, expenditure, or consumption of the asset by the Foundation contravenes any aspect of the rules and regulations of the Kentucky Department of Libraries and Archives, and the statutes or common law of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and the United States of America, including but not limited to Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.

2. The Foundation’s Board shall render a quarterly report to the Trustees or Library Commission detailing all receipts and expenditures of funds for any purpose or purposes; the status, value, disposition, mode of investment, and other relevant facts concerning each asset or fund transferred to it by the Trustees; and a summary of the Foundation’s activities carried on during the month, with any and all benefits conferred upon the Library fully set forth.

3. The assets being transferred are set out in full in Schedule I attached to this resolution. They are hereby incorporated by reference as if set out in full herein.
assets shall retain their restricted character in accordance with those enumerated restrictions set out in Schedule I and this Resolution does nothing to alter the restricted nature of these funds and the permissible expenditures contemplated by each individual endowment.

4. In the event, action of the Trustees in transferring assets to the Foundation or the Foundation's stewardship or the employment of the assets were unauthorized or improper, the Directors of the Foundation shall agree to return the principal or corpus of such asset or assets to the Library in that event, plus any accrued interest actually earned and the actual appreciation in value of those assets.

I, WILLIAM H. PTACEK, secretary of the Louisville Free Public Library, existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of a resolution of the Board of Trustees passed at a duly convened meeting of the Board of Trustees held on the 9th day of December, 1986, as taken by me from the minutes of this meeting and compared by me with the original of this resolution recorded in the minutes of the Louisville Free Public Library.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have set my hand this the 9th day of December, 1986.

The Planning Committee has reviewed several changes affecting circulation practices. The recommended changes are the result of a staff committee studying our overall collection development policies.

The recommended changes listed here address our need to improve our "reserve" system.

A. Policy

1. Change the circulation period for all book materials from 28 days to 21 days.

   This change will shorten the time that highly popular items are in one person's hands, without the logistical problems created by two circulation periods such as 14-day and 28-day circulation periods.

B. Procedures

2. Reduce the holding period for reserves from 14 days to 7 days.

3. Eliminate the automatic or personalized reserve. A personalized "interest" card will be used as needed.

4. Identify and purchase bestseller titles on "bookstore time," meaning order in advance of reviews and order a quantity of titles to be on the shelf at publication.

   The maximum number of copies of a popular title that will be ordered is 75. Examples of titles where 75 copies would be purchased are "Burden of Proof" and "September." Other bestseller titles may indeed require less than 75 copies to meet demand.

Dear Ms. Henderson,

The J. B. Speed Art Museum would be interested in a five-year loan of your Canova sculpture of "Hebe". In return, The J. B. Speed Art Museum would arrange for and subsidize the conservation of this statue. During the period of loan, The Speed would prominently label the sculpture as a loan from the Louisville Free Public Library.

I hope you will have an opportunity to discuss this proposal with the Library's Board.

Sincerely,

Literacy Programs

The Louisville Free Public Library (LPFL) works with various partners in providing services to combat illiteracy. Let me enumerate a few of these partners. Jefferson County Public Schools (JCPS) Adult Literacy Program under the direction of Ms. Barbara Neilson is the largest provider of direct teaching services. The program has over 1,000 teaching volunteers instructing at churches, industries, businesses, Senior House, jails, and schools around the county.

JCPS also works with the National Center for Family Literacy. The Center, established in July 1989 with a grant from the William R. Kenan, Jr. Charitable Trust, is located in the Brown and Williamson Tower with a training center located on the ground floor of the Louisville Galleria. This training center offers an opportunity for teachers and administrators to learn about family literacy.

The Sisters of Charity of Nazareth at Spaulding University and several area churches have programs targeted at the English-as-a-second-language learner.

Lastly, we must mention the Kentuckiana Literacy Council, an advocacy group that underwrites and supports various literacy efforts. As an example, they underwrite the printing cost of the JCPS volunteer teaching manuals.

Programs and staff at the library work closely with both JCPS and the Kentuckiana Literacy Council (KLC). Barbara Neilson says she has had great cooperation from LPFL on every project and has had great support from our staff mentioning Carmen Samuels, Darlene Roby, and Harry Jacobsen-Byer as being especially helpful.
Ms. Amelia Debusman, Extension Coordinator, has provided a short overview of library support efforts, which include Adult Basic Education collections at several locations, Teachers' Collections, Books-on-Tape, and the Adult New Reader Collections from the State Library. There is also both computer hardware and software at the Western Branch that was purchased through a state grant and software at Jeffersontown that was purchased through a gift from Middletown Woman's Club.

Lap Learners, a program done in conjunction with JCPS, was designed for illiterate adult caregivers and their preschool children. Book/cassette packages and free books for home use are provided. Library skills and learning techniques are shared in a nonthreatening atmosphere. Recently the sessions have been conducted at literacy instruction sites.

Other efforts—such as sites for teaching, participation in grant writing, staff writing, staff training, and conferences—have been done both singly and in partnership with other literacy agencies.

In discussing the future possibilities of literacy education with Ms. Neilson, she pointed out some of them are not without drawbacks. Hosting on-site classes has suffered what she regards as a comfort problem. Illiterate adults are not comfortable in public libraries where they have no history of good feelings or support as they have at their churches, job sites, or other social venues. She also feels that many grant programs like Lap Learners suffer from grant writing restrictions wherein whole populations may be excluded.

The brightest light on the horizon in terms of library support may be the special tours. Ms. Neilson referred to them as "field trips" for the JCPS Adult Literacy Program (ALP). In the future, ALP students would take field trips to Main and the four regional branches where services specific to their needs
(i.e., newspapers, magazines, and applicable skills and self-help books) would be provided. Ms. Neilson pointed out that adult illiterates do not see any connection between their lives and a library, and they have to be introduced to any new educational opportunities. She feels this new "field trip" is just another way LFPL continues to support community education.
